AROUND THE TOWN

A full assortment of Easter mounts at Vogel's Studio.

WANTED—At once, a smart boy to learn the printing business. Apply at Pioneer office.

Don't forget Norman Weicker will ship hogs on Tuesday, March 22nd. Hogs to be delivered on the 21st.

Shoes repaired in style at reasonable charges. Any and every make of boots and shoes are repaired by Fred Horton. Address Reitzel & Kalbfleisch's store.

FOR SALE—A Singer sewing machine in first-class order, also a Mendelssohn piano and a number of books. Mrs. F. T. Moyle.

A hockey team composed of some of the school boys went to Carstairs on Saturday last to play a game with the boys there. The score was 6-3 in favor of Carstairs.

New stock of wall paper just received comprises the latest designs. Prices right. Durrer & Brusso, Didsbury Furniturestore.

The Kneehill Farmers Telephone Company has been incorporated and was gazetted in the last issue of the Alberta Gazette. Head office of the company situated at Stern, Alta.

John Liesemer was a visitor at Edmonton last week to see Mrs. Liesemer who was taken to the hospital there to undergo an operation. Their many friends will be glad to hear that Mrs. Liesemer is on the road to recovery.

Steeplechase, on this page. Hogs selling coal, delivered, at $6.50 per ton.

A business change has just taken place in town. Mr. R. Barron, who has been proprietor of the Didsbury Furniture Store for some two or three years back, has sold out to Messrs. Durrer & Brusso, who will continue to keep a full line of the best furniture of all kinds and will make a specialty of picture framing and repairing. Give them a call.

A great reduction in flour at C. C. Pearson's. 15c off all grades for cash. Come in and get prices.

Fred Moyle and M. Weber returned from B. C. the latter end of last week. They were both held up by snow slides and decided to return instead of waiting until they were cleared away. We understand H. B. Atkins was held up at field, B. C., on the same account, the line being blocked at both sides of that place for a day or two.

FOR SALE—Team young mares in full, also some new steers. P. P. Johnson, 3 1-2 miles south-east of Olds, Alta.

TO RENT—For rent, my farm the N.E. 1/4 Sec. 28, Tp. 3, W. 5. There are 80 acres under cultivation, 10 acres of that in fall wheat. There are a good set of buildings on the place. It is all fenced and cross-fenced. Would rent for a term of years with the option of purchase. If interested come and see me.—W. H. Whiteside, Dog Pound, Alta.

Make a date for Easter photos at Vogel's studio.

Fred Moyle has purchased the business block formerly owned by B. J. Smith of Winnipeg, now occupied by Reitzel & Kalbfleisch, also the lot adjoining the store. We understand that Mr. Moyle will have extensive alterations made to the store, the floor of which will be lowered and plate glass fronts put in. He is also going to put up an up-to-date store building on the vacant lot.

Council Meeting

The Council met on Monday night in the Council chamber, Councillors Osmond, St. Clair, Good, Moyer, Sec. Reed and Solicitor Patterson present. Mayor Atkins being out of town Sec. Reed took the chair and on motion Coun. Osmond was elected as Acting Mayor.

There was very little business to transact. Bills were presented from D. C. Corbitt for $16 for lumber; Stark & Mowers, coal, $12.30; Pioneer, $3; A. Dawson, $2.60, caretaker. The first two accounts were referred to the Chairman of Public Works and Fire, Water and Light Committee and the others were passed by the Council.

Sec. Osmond of the Public Library Board reported that two members, Messrs. Studer and Patterson, retired from the Library Board this year and two new members would have to be appointed.

On motion Messrs Studer and Patterson were reappointed. The Mayor is also a member of the Board by virtue of his position. The chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee reported that the Fire Brigade wished the Council to arrange for a public meeting place for the election of officers, etc. Left in the status of the committee to arrange.

The meeting then adjourned.

Cross Resigns

Attorney-General Cross resigned his job on Tuesday. It is thought that Premier Rutherford will resign on Wednesday. It is expected that there will be a general election very soon. F. C. Leasing was asked again to join the cabinet by the Premier but refused. This is the latest news before going to press as to the situation in the Legislature.

DISSOLUTION SALE—On Tuesday, March 16th, the whole of the stock in the Alexandra Livery Barn will be sold by auction by G. B. Saxe-min.

I'm not a quack doctor but I can cure corn trouble. I prevent ingrowing toe nails, tired and aching feet. If you are troubled in any way with your feet see me without delay. I make boots and shoes that fit perfectly and wear well without wearing out the wearer, and guarantee satisfaction. Over 12 years practical experience as shoemaker and repairer. Fred Horton, Reitzel & Kalbfleisch's store, Didsbury.

R. J. McMillan arrived here last week with his carload of Clyde mares and horses. The lot consists of twelve mares, some of them purebred and some of them three or four crosses of pure Clyde blood, one stallion 10 years old, weight over 1000, of exceptional quality, and one three years old, weight 1050. This is considered to be the best lot of horses he ever brought to this country. Any person desirous of purchasing good horses should not forget to attend his sale on Monday afternoon.

The championship of Alberta hockey game between Lacombe and Strathcona last week resulted in a score of 10-0 in favor of Lacombe. What a chance Didsbury had this year for winning the championship. Lacombe had a much harder proposition with the Didsbury boys and no doubt the home team would have been somewhere at the top if they had won out at Lacombe. The score at the Didsbury-Lacombe game at Lacombe, it will be remembered, was 5-3 in favor of Lacombe—still that was a big difference to the other. The Lacombe Globe called the Didsbury-Lacombe game the cleanest and swiftest seen there this season.

Cheap Lumber

There is quality in lumber, do not forget that. Poor lumber means a cold crabs house, difficult to live in, difficult to rent, and difficult to sell. I carry cheap lumber suitable for some purposes, but the kind you want in your house I make a specialty of. My best grade I store in weather proof sheds. Did you ever consider how much your carpenter time cost you to work up poor lumber. I am not advertising any cheap sale but I sell cheap always. Cheap sales and small profits is my motto. Have you seen that ship lap I am selling at $50.00 per MP? Have you seen those boards at $18.00 per MP? I carry a complete stock of lumber. Anything you want you will find in my yard. No cash deposits required. You get what you see and buy and both quality and satisfaction is guaranteed.

If you contemplate building, call and see me. I can figure on that plan and tell you what it will cost any time.

Is It True

It is being reported that a prominent Liberal is the authority for the statement that Mr. Stauffer, M. P., the sitting member for this constituency in the Alberta Legislature, is going to resign and that the government will bring out another candidate, who at present lives in Calgary, to represent the constituency and if he is elected he will be made a minister of the cabinet. We have tried to verify this rumor but have been unable to do so. Mr. Stauffer so far as known has made no statement that he will resign and until he returns from Edmonton it is not likely that anything will be done.

Explains His Position

The following telegram was sent to the Liberals of Carstairs in response to a petition signed by about 100 names which was sent to Mr. Stauffer, the local member, asking him to stand by Mr. Clusling in the recent debate in the Legislature over the A. & G. W. Ry. deal. When Mr. Stauffer was in Didsbury he was undecided but the telegram shows that he decided very soon after reaching Edmonton.

A Tale of Moral Heroism

CHAPTER XVII.

FRANCIS BAILEIGH AND DOROTHY GIL-BERT'S DAUGHTER BECAME ACQUAINTED.
Mrs. Fulton was first to speak.
"When you are through playing the piano, you can go on with your work," she said coldly.

Faith stooped and picked up the dusting cloth and then rose to her feet.

"I didn't hurt your piano," she said.
"The words were on her lips, and her heart was not within her. But she choked the words down, and without replying to Mrs.
Fulton she started to go out. Even in her excited condition of mind she could not help noticing that the young man was gazing at her with great attention.

"It is not your place to touch the piano," continued Mrs. Fulton, who was angry. "You can leave it alone after this."

"Mother?" Alice spoke up in a tone of mild remonstrance. "There has been no harm done, has there? She plays better than I do. I never knew before how that march ought to sound."

"You're right about that," said the young man, in a big, hearty voice. "It was finely done, and I've heard it played by Sousa's band too."

Faith colored to her hair at the unexpected praise, while Mrs. Fulton, still the piano with a bang and looked extremely annoyed.

"You can finish your work here some other time," she said to Faith slowly.

Faith went out of the parlor without having said a word. She was glad when she reached the kitchen that she had controlled herself, but she did not not to say something in defense, to excuse her action, cost her a tremendous struggle. As she prepared the midday meal, she choked several times with a dry sob as she realized that she must not try to be anything but a hired girl while employed in that capacity.

"This isn't the work I ought to do," she said to herself again and again, "but I am doing the best I can. If I hadn't forgotten myself at the sight of the music, if I can get anything else to do, I won't stay here. But what can I do, unless I give up everything and go home? I won't do that until I have to."

Then she quieted her excitement by recalling the home circle. Her father's face came up before her, and she said: "I am selfish to mind such a thing. For four father's sake!"

When she appeared at the table in answer to Mrs. Fulton's ring of the bell the first time, she showed no signs of temper, and served quietly and sheerly. Mrs. Fulton looked at her sharply several times, but apparently found nothing in the girl's face to annoy her. The only embarrassing feature of the meal to Faith was the fact that several times she was conscious that the young man, Malcolm, was looking at her very directly. It was not a stare, but it embarrassed Faith somewhat. His face was honest and manly, but the look he often turned toward her was very searching.

She was relieved when the meal was over and she could clear things away.
It was Thursday afternoon, and she very quickly put her kitchen to rights and, running up to her room, she put on hat and cloak and went out. She determined to have another look at the picture on State street. If it were still there. And if it was gone a plan had suddenly come to her mind which she had resolved to try before going back to the Fulton's.

She had been gone out of the house only a few minutes when a conversation occurred in the parlor which would have interested her intensely if she could have heard it.

The young man, Malcolm, had been at case all through the lunchtime.
When it was over, he had gone into the library, where he had asked leave to write a letter. He was evidently a business acquaintance of Mr. Fulton's, but the conversation at the table revealed the fact that he had not been in the Fulton home before.

He finished his letter and went into the parlor. Mrs. Fulton and Alice were there. The girl had not gone to school on account of not feeling well.

"I am sorry that Mr. Fulton did not come out this noon, Mr. Stanley," said Mrs. Fulton, who seemed anxious to please him. "I am sure he would have been very much interested in the city.
He telephoned out in the early part of the forenoon that he would try to meet you here. I know he wanted to see you before you go west."

"Yes, madam," replied Malcolm Stanley. He spoke respectfully, but one who knew him well would have said his tone lacked warmth. He was evidently very much disturbed about something.

He walked to the window and looked out. Alice went over to the piano and opened it. She sat down and played a few bars of the march. Often when she was feeling miserable a little music would relieve her.

The sound of the piano roused Malcolm Stanley. He came back to the middle of the room, and taking a chair near Mrs. Fulton, he said with some emphasis, as if he had been making up his mind to a course:

"Mrs. Fulton, where does your girl—the girl who waited on the table, who was playing the piano—where did she come from? What is her name?"

Mrs. Fulton looked surprised and also embarrassed.

"She is from Kansas, I believe she told me. Her name is Faith. What is the girl's last name, Alice? I never can remember it," she called to Alice.

Alice stopped playing and turned around on the piano stool.

"Kirk—Faith Kirk."

"Oh, yes. She's a peculiar girl in some ways, Mr. Stanley, no doubt you noticed. It is not often that we housekeepers can furnish superior musicians to entertain guests," she said, with a short laugh, which showed that she still thought of the incident of Faith at the piano with great annoyance.

Malcolm Stanley had risen, his whole expression betraying great excitement.

"If this girl's name is Kirk, Mrs. Fulton, and she is from Kansas, it is almost certain that she is the daughter of the man who was with my mother when she died in midwinter, the man who held me in his arms, the man who has always been in my thought as one of the heroes of the world."

Mrs. Fulton rose, looking bewildered.
She was familiar with Francis Baileigh's painting, but she had never thought of associating it with it.

"I must see her," said Malcolm Stanley. He spoke like one who has the right to command.

"I think she has gone out," said Mrs.
Fulton. "Alice, will you go and see?"

Alice went out and soon came back, saying that Faith had gone. Malcolm Stanley stood the parlor in unusual agitation of a moment.

"If this is the daughter of Malcolm Kirk," he said to himself. Then he turned to Mrs. Fulton and bowed formally.

"Will you excuse me, madam, if I take my leave now. I am obliged to make some arrangements about the picture at Mr. Baileigh's this afternoon."

"When do you leave, or the west?" Mrs. Fulton asked. He was annoyed at the waste of the day.

"I had planned to go tomorrow. I expect to visit Mr. Kirk on my way to Denver. But I feel anxious to see Miss Kirk before I go. She certainly must be his daughter. A 'hired girl,' as you call them, would not be likely to have such a musical education, and besides, she has the look in her face of the portrait. It must be she."

"Yes," cried Alice, her pale face showing some color under the excitement of such a discovery in real life.

"She certainly played the piano like one who has had the best of teachers.
And, besides, you can see from her manner that she is refined and ingenuity-like."

Alice spoke with a glow of an selfish feeling, and Malcolm Stanley looked gratefully at her.

"I am going out with Mr. Fulton this evening," he said.

He bowed and went out, leaving Mrs. Fulton and Alice to talk over the matter, while he was down to Francis Baileigh's studio, determined every moment with increasing resolve to return and see Faith before the day was over.

Meanwhile Faith had gone directly to the familiar window on State street where the picture had been.

She knew before she reached the place that the picture was gone. Because the usual crowd of people was not there. She stopped in front of the window, however, and read the address of the artist which was attached to a small scene of a foreign seaport.
She hesitated a moment, and then resolutely went on to Randolph street, to the block where Baileigh's studio was.

His room was at the top of the building, and when she reached it she hesi-tated again before going in. When she finally opened the door, she discovered to be empty except for a large couch and a few decorations. There was another room opening from the first, and after waiting a moment Faith went on to the door of that room.

A man was sitting there with his back to the entrance so absorbed in the work that he evidently had not heard her come in. But Faith was at once attracted by the sight of the familiar picture of the father which was on a great easel in front of the artist.

She came a few steps farther into the room, and still the artist did not look up, and it was only when Faith had advanced as far as the frame of the picture of her father that he turned his face and looked at her.

"I am Faith Kirk, and that is my father," said Faith, speaking directly after Baileigh's own manner, and pointing at the portrait. "I've come on a rather peculiar errand, Mr. Baileigh, but you won't blame me for it, I am sure."

"Blame the daughter of Dorothy Gilbert," cried Francis Baileigh. His dark, heavy, blue hair was streaked with gray, and he had grown noticeably old in many ways, but he was a handsome and well-preserved gentleman, and the old Baileigh manner sat on him with even more grace than when he was young.

He rose and bowed with an elegant politeness that brought the color to Faith's cheek, and for a moment they stood facing each other in silence.

Then Baileigh brought a chair, and Faith sat down, while the artist looked at her with great and increasing interest.

"I suppose you have come to take me to task for painting this picture," he said. "It was in one sense a very bold thing for me to do. I think, however, your father will forgive me, and I am sure he will when he knows all about my reasons for doing it."

He spoke in a tone that made Faith feel somewhat that the picture had had a real influence on the life of the artist, as indeed it had, and the telling of it at another time revealed the fact that Francis Baileigh had gone through an experience of moral struggle that had left him also victor in overcoming.

"In sure father would be pleased," said Faith slowly. Then she paused, for suddenly one of her shy spells came over her and she did not know how to go on. For the first time she seemed to feel as if perhaps her errand would be considered unusual.

"What can I do for you?" said Baileigh. He spoke in a way that reminded Faith's father at once. If he had not been for that she would have gone away without telling him what she had come for.

"I am Faith Kirk, and that is my father," said Faith.

"Of course," he continued. "I am wondering very much how you happened to come in here, for your home is in Kansas, isn't it?"

"Will you let me tell you how I happened to be here?" said Faith, feeling more confident in her errand. "I shall have to tell it before you will understand why I have come."

"Yes, tell me your story," said Baileigh, smiling encouragingly. So Faith related her experience in the photographer's studio and her present place at the Fulton's, where Francis Baileigh opened his eyes a little, and he continued to listen in sympathetic silence.

Overlooking the Salmon?

That the Pacific salmon industry is being overdone, was the opinion of Prof. J. P. McMurich in his lecture in the science building of Toronto University recently.

Each year the salmon production varies, and the amount of each should be regulated accordingly by an international commission.

The "runs" only came every four years. During the last big run in 1905, $5,000,000 worth of salmon was captured, the catches were diminishing.

Canada was sending 20,000,000 pounds of salmon to Great Britain yearly; to Australia 2,000,000 pounds, and to the eastern provinces 1,000,000 pounds.

Since the great bulk of Pacific salmon went to Great Britain and Australia, it was not a local question, but an imperial issue, and, as the conditions were different each year, the Empire should see to regulating each year's catch.

LOST APPETITE.

CAN'T EAT! STOMACH OUT OF ORDER

You are losing strength and vitality. That listless, languid feeling is due to the weak condition of the system. These are sure signs of a breakdown. Check the breakdown quickly and effectively by using PSYCHINE the Greatest of All Tonics. If you feel worn out, and run down, it is time for a tonic. Use PSYCHINE. Do not wait till you are worse. It will tone up your system and restore you to your old-time vigor and health.
Keep your stomach in order, increase your appetite, restore your system to a healthy condition by taking PSYCHINE today. Mrs.
J. T. Miller, of 63 Notre Dame Street, Winnipeg, proved this, for she says: "I am thankful for what PSYCHINE has done for me. I was laid up with weakness. Oh, how I suffered! My appetite was very poor and my stomach was greatly disordered.
Today I am strong and well, for PSYCHINE has brought me permanent relief. I feel like a new woman now to what I did before taking PSYCHINE. I feel the vigor of girlhood in my veins once more."

The evenings are growing long and cold. An easy chair and a paper beside the heater begin to look good. It is time to decide what papers to take; we say papers, for the time is past when the farmer is satisfied with one periodical in his home. Here is an offer that will interest you now, and meet the needs of readers of both sexes, young and old, during the long winter months when the papers have become family friends.

There is the Weekly Free Press and Prairie Farmer with the news of the world and live departments for the farmer, his wife and the young people; The Nor-West Farmer, issued twice a month, the recognised farm paper of the west; The Western Home Monthly, full of bright stories and interesting information for every member of the family.

These three publications, including your own home paper with all the local happenings, four papers in all for $3 a year.

Kind enclosed the sum of $3.00 for which send the papers mentioned below to the following address or addresses:-

Blooming Prairie

At last the smile came off the weather this winter.

Mr. Hickey, Jr., is "home" again. Mr. Emery came back from Didsbury the 23rd inst.

We will soon be snow bound if we do not have a thaw. The trails are all bad again. There is much travel going east now.

A piece of the cut bank as large as a house fell in recently in Sec. 28, 31-21. It looks like a picture of the comet upside down.

The Lawrence hill is safe to bring a load down now if 10th back and runners are rough locked with strong chains.

Oats are 65 cents a bushel now at the Hand Hills.

Rawdonville

Severe weather and heavy snow falls has been our lot out here.

A dance will be held on St. Patrick's day. Ladies are kindly asked to bring baskets which will be auctioned to pay expenses. There will be no charge for admission.

G. W. Ballard is back from Ontario. John Barker is expected back on the 18th.

A meeting was called and a vote taken on the forming of a pound district. Local residents seem to be in favor of it, but the votes of ranchers east of here prevailed and for the present the matter will be dropped.

A local telephone company has been formed, each farmer to supply his own poles, wire, etc. A start has been made and the service will be in operation this summer.

Our local merchant, Lester B. Haley, is increasing his stock considerably.

The Grand Trunk surveying party is nearing here again from the south.

Acme

P. S. Brum is busy putting up a house for C. Bole on his farm east of town.

The literary club held its meeting on Saturday evening last and was a success. Their next meeting is on Saturday evening, when a mock trial will be held. P. S. Brum will be charged with horse stealing. Messrs. Magu and Wilson will act as counsel and W. Bannerman as judge.

W. Bannerman, J. G. Pratt, Dan McKinnon and R. Estes were visitors to Calgary last week.

The masquerade ball held on Friday, Feb. 25th, was a success. Quite a crowd was in costumes and everybody enjoyed themselves until the small hours of the morning.

B. Shields, late manager of the Merchants' bank, Carstairs, has been moved here.

Mr. B. T. Koch of Sunnyslope is holding a sale of his entire stock of farm stock and implements on March 10th. W. Bannerman of Acme auctioneer.

Mr. Mott is busy excavating the basement for R. B. Estes' new store.

A grand ball will be held here on St. Patrick's day, March 17th. As this is intended to be the ball of the season everybody should come.

A box social will be held here under the auspices of the Methodist church on Tuesday, March 22nd. W. Bannerman will sell the boxes.

Mr. T. Parsons has bought the Dinna farm south of town.

Mr. J. G. Pratt's family arrived in town on Sunday.

PUBLIC NOTICE

A sitting of the District Court will be held at DIDSBURY, on WEDNESDAY, MARCH 16th, commencing at 10 a.m. Dated at Edmonton, 4th March 1910.

Royal Ranger

(Imp. [10010] [14822])

The horse Royal Ranger just purchased by Mr. Peter Johnson from Geo. Nelson is a splendid specimen of Clydesdale horse, he is brown in color with a blaze on face; he was foaled on May 5th, 1907, bred by William Waddell, Aulicville, Bridge of Weir, Renfrewshire, Scotland. Royal Ranger is a nice dark colored horse of moderate build and weight, with straight close action. He is royally bred, being by Danure Favorite, out of the same dam as Polly Chilton, famous in the hands of John A. Turner, Calgary, for the prize she won for him besides her show record at home. His sire, Danure Favorite, is by Royal Favorite 4552, by Royal Garfield. He had an immense showday career as a yearling.

Mr. Nelson has still another horse and mare left. Vertige is a nice two-year-old gelding that looks like another top good weight and he is a good colt and gelding. He is by Baron Dee, is by the invincible Baron's Pick. The horse is bay, color brown, hind legs white and is of moderate weight. He is the much sought of Baron's Pick. Hawaiian cross and his breeding back of that is of the first. These horses are a great addition to Didsbury's show stock and to the show.
